COAL PRICES

GOVERNMENT CONTROL TO BE REMOVED.

POSSIBLE EFFECTS.

LONDON, February 1.

In view of the increased output and the slackened home demand and the fact that export prices are now approximately the same as home prices, the Government has decided to decontrol coal from March 1. All restrictions as regards pithead prices and distribution in the United Kingdom will be abolished. The position is unchanged as regards foreign buyers and exports which are freely allowed subject to one slight restriction.

The decontrol of the price of coal is obviously a step giving effect to the Government's declared policy of releasing the industry from bureaucratic control as soon as possible. The control was originally imposed to guard against a shortage of inland supplies in consequence of the very high export prices. The latter have now descended to the same and an even lower level than the controlled maximum home prices. The new order removes prohibition on collieries from only supplying specified districts. Experts are uncertain as to the effects of decontrol but confidently anticipate that the price of poorer qualities will fall owing the large available supplies. The price of higher grades may increase somewhat. The only remaining restriction on export is that district coal committees must be satisfied there is no shortage for inland use.

A NAVAL HOLIDAY OBJECTION.

WASHINGTON, February 1.

Giving evidence before the Senate Naval Committee, Admiral Cooze declared that six months' suspension of shipbuilding operations would involve the Government in at least $10,000,000 extra expenditure in compensating contractors.

COMING PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURATION.

WASHINGTON, February 1.

President-elect Harding has requested President Wilson to call a special session of the Senate on March 4 on his inauguration in accordance with custom.

STUDENTS LEAVING BOMBAY COLLEGES.

BOMBAY, February 1.

Non-cooperation propaganda is becoming more intensified in Bombay where 750 students are leaving college. There are two schools in the non-cooperative movement one of which advises the students to engage in propaganda in the villages and the other seeks to start a national college immediately.

MILLHANDS RESUME WORK.

BOMBAY, February 1.

The Kohninoor mill hands have resumed work.

CHINESE FLOUR.

ANALYSIS GIVES REASSURING RESULTS.

LONDON, February 1.

With reference to the nervousness aroused by the use of a small percentage of Chinese flour for the manufacture of bread, the result of two samples taken at random by the wheat commission for analytical examination has been distinctly reassuring, 76 per cent. of the constituents being mucilage sugar and digestible carbohydrates, 9 per cent. albuminous compounds, and 15 per cent. moisture fibre, Mineral matter was of small fractional percentage. Both samples were certified free from chestnuts, peanuts and soya beans.

PRINCE OF WALES.

UNVEILS MEMORIAL TO INDIAN TROOPS.

LONDON, February 1.

The Prince of Wales, who was welcomed by cheering thousands at Brighton, motored to Patcham Downs where he unveiled a memorial to the Hindus and Sikhs who perished in the war. In a speech, he said that in the ordinary course of events he should now have been in India. Perhaps next year he would meet and speak to the Indians who were cared for at Brighton.

IRISH DISORDERS.

FATHER DOMINIC IMPRISONED.

CHINESE AMBASSADOR'S WIFE.

HOME NEWSPAPER EULOGIZES MRS. WELLINGTON KOO'S CHARMS.

LONDON, February 1.

The Daily Express, in an article, eulogizes the charms of Mrs. Wellington Koo whom it describes as "Western to the finger tips," and always dressed in the latest Paris creations. No society function is complete without her and her sister, the Countess Kan. Both sisters drive their own grey-painted two-seaters through the London traffic. Mrs. Wellington Koo is a great art collector and theaetregos, while her keen interest in world politics, as evidenced by her frequent appearance in the ladies' gallery of the House of Commons, should greatly assist her husband.

HOPEFUL TRADE OUTLOOK.

LONDON, February 1st.

Mr. Kellaway, speaking in Preston, was hopeful that the trade recovery now will not be delayed long. Foreign markets had been glutted with dear goods, but these were being steadily disposed of. The world's hunger for supplies was not satisfied, and it was certain to become more urgent. Hence over-production was not an evil, as was sometimes suggested, but production at prices which people were unable to pay. The great danger was the policy of 'canny' which meant high wages and low production, making prices prohibitive. The signs of the trade turning are indicated by the news that a number of steel furnaces in Wales have been re-started.

LONDON, February 1st.

Mr. Booth, Vice-President of the New York Guaranty Trust Corporation, interviewed in London, said that American plans of reconstruction of Europe were based on the expectation of a shorter period of German indemnity payments, and in view of the Paris settlement must now be changed. Credits to European nations must be extended to enable them to pay without a strain. Another effect of the Paris Conference would be the adjustment of the American tariff schedules. The pre-war reasons for protective tariffs had lost much force, but America must be protected against dumping, while new markets must be found by following the British plan of supporting the development of new countries. The formation of the Foreign Trade Financing Corporation, which had just issued in New York capital stock of the value of $25,000,000, was the first big step in extending foreign credit. The special law under which it had been organized would permit the issue of debentures ten times its capital, which could be sold in small denominations to individual investors in the United States. The debentures would be based on the collateral security engendered by loans abroad for extended periods.

Mr. Booth pointed out that China was greatly increasing her manufacturing position. He expressed the opinion that Lancashire, particularly, will be faced with strenuous competition there, and declared that Americans did not fear trouble in the Pacific. They expect that the judgment of statesmen in the United States and Japan would work out the differences, which, at the worst, were not essentially fundamental.

WASHINGTON, February 1st.

The monthly statement of the Federal Reserve Board says that some plants are employing many hands and have resumed whole or part time running. A distinct improvement is reported in some branches of textile industry, while preparations to put financing of exports on a more satisfactory basis have laid the foundations of improvement in the whole export trade.

MELBOURNE, February 1st.

Mr. Hughes, in a speech, denied that Australia was depressed. He said heavy export of primary products and an increase of deposits in banks showed that Australia was one of the most prosperous countries in the world.

OTTAWA, February 1st.

The Customs receipts of Canada show an increase of seven million dollars in ten months.

BIG BRITISH CONTRACT.

LONDON, February 1st.

Messrs. Armstrong and Whitworth's have entered into an agreement with a Russian trade delegation for carrying out repairs practically to the whole of Russia's locomotives. The commencement of the work depends on the ratification of the Anglo-Russian trade agreement. Unquestionably, this is a great contract and should give employment to hundreds of men.

BOMBAY MILL STRIKES.

BOMBAY, February 1st.

Unrest continues with regard to the situation in the mill area. Employees in the weaving industry of the Century Mill have struck for higher wages. The strike at the Kohninoor Mill continues.

CHINA FAMINE RELIEF.

LONDON, February 1st.

The subscriptions received by the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank in London on account of the China Famine Relief Fund now total $16,808, including $105 from the Chinese Central Railways.

RICE CONTROL IN SIAM.

BANGKOK, January 31st.

Rice control has been abolished.

Mrs. Charles Burnett, wife of Colonel Charles Burnett, Military Attaché to the United States Embassy in Japan, is accorded the distinction of being placed among the foremost rank of Japanese poets in consequence of her New Year's poem, "Before the Shrine of Ise at Dawn." ### TWIXT LAND AND SEA.

THE SHOPS IN SAILOR-TOWN.

It would always be possible to know when one had entered upon the queer amphibious country which lies, as it were, between land and sea, even without such visible signs as masts and funnels to apprise one of the fact, or the sign-manual unmistakably upon its inhabitants, upon its atmosphere and last but by no means least upon the business that is done there.

The shops of sailor town have ever a certain cosmopolitan likeness; so that at every turn you are seeing things which recall as in a flash other things the width of the world away —under other skies, and in most ways totally different, yet is some strange way alike.

BUILDERS.

In the book of Nehemiah there is mention made of people who had provoked God to anger before or in the presence of the builders.
The story is a dramatic one, well worth reading, and China Mail readers who may have overlooked it are recommended to repair their omission. It contains a humorous builders, and things would happen.

Apparently the Ministry of Health puts unnecessary obstacles in the way. That would be more red tape, and not, we hope, a symptom of the massed forces of capitalism. It is reported that work is now in progress on half a dozen Guild contracts in various parts of the country, and that before long this number will be considerably more than doubled. Say trebled.
That is not much of a reply to the shortage, which is due, we should remember, less to the machiavellism of capital than to the extraordinary taxation of an extravagant Government, which discourages investment in such enterprise. Yet if it is seen to be a good thing it will undoubtedly "catch on," and spread rapidly. It is feasible. The builders are working under foremen elected by the Guilds, and are assured regular pay even when bad weather interrupts the work, a drawback to which builders have hitherto been liable. This assurance comes out of the money that would have gone as profit to the contractor, we are told. The full maintenance of the worker as a first charge on the cost of the undertaking is a Guild principle, and it is this which has become an issue between the Government and the Building Trade Unions. We have lately heard a good deal about the "wickedness" of the builders' Unions in refusing to allow the Government to offer building jobs to fifty thousand ex-servicemen who are out of work, and it is only now that we learn from this article that the Unions are quite willing to this dilution of union with non-union labour if the Government will admit that principle that the job itself should ensure a regular living to those engaged. The Government refuses so far. It will not promise that when the boom is past it will see that a first charge on the industry covers the risk of non- or slack employment for a diluted labour force. The principle seems fair, and if the situation is as represented, it is the Government which is provoking God by before the builders. "This need not surprise us. The Confucian Government we now have is a godless gang." If this Guild idea survives departmental enmity and becomes a success, we shall see it spreading to other trades. Meanwhile, as a fitting tag to these thoughts about builders, here you have a couple of simple little verses by Edwin Markham:

We are all blind until we see That in the human plan Nothing is worth the making if It does not make the man.
Why build these cities glorious If man unbuilds goes?
In vain we build the work unless The builder also grows.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Another clean bill of health, the third in succession, was returned for the Colony yesterday.

A new note was struck in the town of Singapore, with the appearance of policemen on point duty wearing khaki helmets, instead of the usual round black caps.

Mr. Stuart J. Fuller, American Consul-General at Tientsin, was to arrive in Shanghai on Friday, January 28. He is on a week's leave and will visit Shanghai and Hongkong.

The police have found one half of a $100 note of the Mercantile Bank. The owner can recover same by applying to the Central Police Station, and producing the other half or giving other conclusive proof of ownership.

The Southern party of the C.I.M.
School, Chefoo, which left yesterday by the s.s. "Szechuen" to rejoin the school for the spring term, comprised the following: Miss A. Broadfoot, (Kongmoon); Miss Margaret Joffe, Miss Winnie Anderson, and Masters Andrew Hazeland and Gordon C.
Burnett (Hongkong).

A fire broke out in a matted at Quarry Bay last night. The flames, fanned by a strong wind, spread rapidly and soon several other matted in the vicinity were ignited. An early alarm gave the inmates of the matted sufficient time to collect their effects and escape. The brigade turned out promptly, but on arrival found its services were not required, the matted having already been burned to the ground. The origin of the outbreak is not known.

In the course of an article, the Free Press notes certain complications which will affect business in Malaya this year. They will be reinforced by others which we cannot as yet foresee. The result will be that as far as the next few years are concerned there will be a real opportunity for business talent to show up.
Previously our trade has been conducted along well-known and rather conservative lines requiring little more than a knowledge of ordinary business conditions, now however the chance will occur for those who have special commercial instinct and capacity to prove their worth, and the year may produce some remarkable trading changes.

Mr. Hutchison, the British Assessor startling judgment in the case in which a Chinese dealer was charged with smuggling rice to Hongkong. The case was dismissed on the ground that the recent municipal proclamation forbidding rice profiteering is not legal until ratified by a meeting of ratepayers. The community is disagreeably surprised at the limitations of the municipal council.

KINEMA NOTES.

ORONET PICTURES.

A WONDERFUL PICTURE.

Such splendid screen productions as "The Right to Happiness," a picture which deals with one of the greatest problems of the day, gives firm support to the claim that moving pictures are destined to be one of the world's great educational forces.
They convey ideas more vividly than any other method. They arouse emotion and enthusiasm. They form deep impressions that profoundly influence people. It is difficult to single out any particular act in this wonderful film, but the Russian village by revolutionaries are scenes intensely thrilling in their realism.
"The Right to Happiness" will be shown again to-day and to-morrow, at the Coronet, and those who have not already witnessed this masterpiece will be well advised to avail themselves of the present opportunity.

A Chinese merchant of Chepai, alleged to have engaged in rice smuggling, recently received an anonymous letter threatening that "action" would be taken if he did not subscribe $5,000 to a charitable institution. As the letter did not have the desired effect, a second epistle arrived a day or two ago, with the result that the merchant and his family left home secretly in the night and have not been heard of since.

TO SECRETARIES OF CLUBS AND OTHER INSTITUTIONS.

All preliminary notices of forthcoming meetings, lectures and entertainments, sent for insertion in the news columns of the China Mail, are charged for at the rate of $1 each, (as announced in May and June of last year) providing that they do not occupy more than four lines. In future if this space is exceeded they will be placed in the advertising columns at the prevailing rates.

THEATRE ROYAL.

DENNISTON PLAYERS.

THE CO-RESPONDENT.

In "The Co-respondent," the Denniston Players at the Theatre Royal last night maintained the record of success with which their season here has been marked. The play is a comedy drama, having considerably more substance than the farces, however enjoyable they have been, which they have presented for several nights, and as showing the versatility of the members of the company was an excellent medium.

The story, as staged, has its beginning in a small railway junction hotel, where the wealthy Langdon Van Kree, under an assumed name, is preparing to go through a marriage ceremony with a girl from a country town in New England, by name Anne Gray. She has no suspicion of his deception.
Just as the false ceremony is about to be carried through, however, detectives arrive on the scene, and she discovers that he is being pursued for evidence in a divorce suit which his wife is contemplating. She flees, and makes her way to New York, where she secures a position as a reporter on one of the daily newspapers.

The scene then shifts to New York, chiefly to the office of the managing editor of the newspaper on which she is employed. A romance has developed rapidly between the managing editor and the new member of his staff. Information comes to the managing editor that the Langdon Van Kree divorce suit has been filed, and he sends the girl reporter to interview Mrs. Van Kree. It is then, for the first time, that the girl learns she is named as co-respondent in the divorce suit, as a result of the incident in the junction hotel when Van Kree, just before the intended bogus ceremony, had registered them as "Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon."

A tense situation is created, which is relieved by the admission of Van Kree that the girl was entirely innocent, and by the withdrawal of the divorce suit by Mrs. Van Kree.

The play is a good exposition of the point of view of a big-city newspaper, which fights for the principle that the wealthy are entitled to no more privileges than the poor, and refuses to yield to bribery or influence.

The parts were well played, Miss Warda Howard being a very capable Anne Gray, and Mr. Leo Kennedy a forceful and vigorous editor.
Miss Valentine Sidney, as Mrs. Langdon Van Kree, and Miss Shirley Huxley as Mrs.
Spotswell, the society tell-tale who gathers information where she may and sells it where she is best paid, were exceedingly good in their parts.
Miss Florence Chapman introduced a bright touch in the character of Miss Georgia Welshingham, the indignant actress who had declared war on the harassed dramatic editor. Others who added much to the success of the piece were Mr. Ray D. Clifton as Fred Clifton, the City Editor, and Mr.
W. Vaughan-Morgan as "Sweeney," the office boy.

To-night the company presents
"She Walked in her Sleep."

CHINESE PROFESSOR.

BOLSHIEVIST PROPAGANDIST.

A FANTASTIC CHINESE STORY.

According to the Chinese Press, a certain professor (who shall be nameless), formerly of Peking University, has returned from extensive travels and is now engaged in Bolshevik propaganda among his countrymen. As the agent of a Russian organization, he is engaged in superintending the circulation of pamphlets and circulars advocating Communism. In Shanghai, his particular pitch is said to be in the neighbourhood of Ferry Road, where it is hoped to enroll a number of members from among the factory workers. Operations are also being conducted among the employees of the Shanghai-Nanking, the Tientsin-Pukow, and the Peking-Mankow Railways, and the reporter learns that 300,000 men have been induced to join the movement.

Meanwhile, the professor is said to have journeyed to Canton for the purpose of enlisting the sympathy of Sun Yat-sen. Incidentally, he will endeavour to obtain "a large sum" for circulation among the workers during the holidays. —N.C.D. News.

FAMINE RELIEF.

HEROIC SELF-DENIAL.

PAGES FROM A DIARY.

PEKING, Jan. 25.

Latest reports of distress and death in the famine areas emphasize in detail the conditions that prompted influential Chinese and foreign leaders to plan a united famine fund campaign for next month.

These reports written to the Peking United Famine Relief Committee show that the meagre supplies of food, consisting of husks, cobs, and a little grain are being rapidly depleted, that more than thirty persons have succumbed to cold and exposure in one district, but that through it all, the people are showing a commendable heroism through retaining their pride which keeps them from begging until life itself is endangered.

Even more startling are the reports of further raids. From two to five villages are captured and sacked every night, the field agents report, and there seems to be no way to stop the ravages.

Every line of the report sent by Rowland Cross from Jao Yang Hsien and by Misses Selma O. Moberg and Martha A. Brann from Wehsien, indicates that the united drive should be intensive and national in scope. They also show that the relief measures are efficiently and conscientiously executed.

Mr. Cross reviews the work of the schools in his section. Eight of these are in Jao Yang Hsien, the southernmost hien of the seven in the Paotingfu field. Students are enrolled from the surrounding area, fourteen villages often being represented in the student body of 100 pupils. Every few days each student receives his money allowance at the rate of seven coppers a day and the schools make admirable centres for dispensing relief. If rightly handled these will be of lasting benefit to the districts. Mr.
Cross believes. Hair net classes have also been organized as relief measures. Students who become proficient in this work return to the villages and instruct others.

Included in the letter are pages from the diary kept by Mr. Cross.
Some of them follow:—
"On the way to Pekingfu our train had to wait while a train of empty cars passed at full speed but there are two trains of grain on the tracks at Paoingfu and Mr. Baker is on the job."

"On my way to visit the chow changes outside the city I passed long lines of women stumping along over the road, carrying their buckets of food. One woman said she was dying of cold while another, well dressed and of good family, said she had been to the chow change because there was no other way. She said she was ashamed that she had to beg."

"On Tuesday I rode the bicycle 90 li to Li Hsien where I spent two days travelling with Messrs. Woon and Liu of Yen Ching and Mr. Wei, the evangelist. At Liu Chia So we found a school and hair net class in good condition. There are 700 families here and after our meal we went out with the village elder."

"Here I saw more depressing sights than I had ever seen before. Rich and poor are all alike this year, one owner of 80 mow of land told us.
The blind, lame, sick, starving and women with new-born, combined to make us shudder. The doorways often told the story of suffering within. The village father at one place said between 30 and 40 of his neighbours had frozen to death.
Trees are coming down in the courtyards and even being cut from the ancestral graves. In the smaller places some fuel can be obtained but in the larger centres the fuel problem is vital. We passed through villages where men are eating leaves with a little kaoliang mixed in but I tell you there is dearthness of teeth in these villages."

"One bright spot in Jao Yang Hsien is the home of a former student of the Union Women's College, Peking. She is a widow caring for her aged father and her daughter and is making a brave struggle at the same time helping and encouraging others."

"Self denial and heroism" is on every hand. A carrier who showed effects of starvation asked me for something to eat but when I offered him part of the bread I was eating he asked, 'Do you think I would eat your family food?'

Mr. Cross spoke of the unselfish labours of all the workers, and told how Mr. Hsieh of Yen Ching and Mr.
Liu of Shanung Christian University drove a whole day without food or water. On one day the three visited 167 places, finding comfortless homes, of suffering men, women and children, and everywhere empty food vessels.

Industry is at a standstill. Mr.
Cross said, and will be until the population is brought through the winter to the tilting season.

"Everywhere the call for help must be sounded and everywhere there must be an immediate and generous response in money and service," Mr. Cross said.

Robber bands have grown until the total now runs into the thousands and conditions are indescribable according to the report of Misses Moberg and Brann.

The hands have captured villages after village and have come into the

YAMATI GOVERNMENT SCHOOL.

The annual prize distribution of the Yamati Government School was held this morning. The Headmaster presided, and the prizes were given away by Mrs. Paccos de Martin.

In the course of his report the Headmaster mentioned that the average attendance in 1920 was the same as in the previous year, viz. 263. At the annual examination in July 202 boys passed out of 267. The staff now consisted of one English master, 10 local masters and three vernacular masters, and there were ten classes.
In September Mr. Brown was transferred to Victoria-Brish School and the school had also to regret the departure of Mrs. Brown. The Library, which now contained 571 books, continued to be extensively used. It was managed by a committee of two masters and seven boys.

The discipline of the school was excellent. In this regard useful assistance was rendered by the pre-fess. The health of the school was also excellent. In the autumn the whole school was examined by Dr.
Woodman whose report was satisfactory. A number of boys whose eyesight was reported as defective were examined by Dr. Haxson and where necessary spectacles were provided.

The School finished second in the Junior Schools' Football League—played 8, lost 1, drawn 1, won 6—points 13.

The Headmaster took the opportunity of impressing upon parents and guardians that it was very important for the boys that they should attend regularly and not be withdrawn for trivial reasons, and in conclusion thanked his colleagues for their valuable work during the time he had been at the school.

"THE POLAR BEAR."

PROPOSED EXPEDITION.

TO NORTH POLE BY AIR.

Captain Robert A. Bartlett, who was master of the "Roosevelt"— the ship in which Admiral Peary's expedition embarked when they discovered the North Pole—has declared his determination to cruise the North Pole in an aeroplane.

To finance the expedition, he says, will cost about $300,000, and he is seeking to make arrangements with scientific bodies and wealthy men for the advance of this sum.

Captain Bartlett is known among Army, Navy and scientific men as "The Polar Bear," and is a veteran of five Polar expeditions. He arrived at Philadelphia recently to become Port Captain in the Army Transport Service, and is in charge of the transports being completed at Hog Island.

South suburb of Wei Hsien. Here they captured one man, passed ropes about him and lifted him over the city wall. Farmers who own land and who have enough food to see them through are being held for ransom and in many cases are forced to sell the land to gain their release.
The wealthier families have been moving into the cities for protection of crowding and there are frequent scenes of terror. The noise of the shooting and the cries of the terrified people have kept residents of many villages in a nervous condition.

The carrying off of farm animals is sure to have serious economic results, the young women say, for if the raids continue there will be no animals to aid in tilling the soil.

QUEEN'S COLLEGE.

G VERNOR DISTRIBUTES PRIZES.

DONATION TO UNIVERSITY.

SIR ROBERT HO TUNG GIVES $100,000.

A large gathering assembled at Queen's College this morning at 11 o'clock to witness the annual prize giving. H.E. the Governor distributed the awards. In the course of his speech he announced that Sir Robert Ho Tung had decided to increase his contributions to the University of Hongkong, already large, by an additional $100,000. The Governor also unveiled a portrait of Sir Robert Ho Tung, who is one of the distinguished "Old Boys" of Queen's College.

Among the prominent guests were the Hon. Dr. Claud Severn, Colonial Secretary; Sir Robert Ho Tung and Lady Ho Tung; the Hon. Mr. E. A. Irving, Director of Education; Mr. Teesdale Mackintosh; Dr. G. P. Jordan, Professor Middleton Smith; Mr. E. Ralphs, Inspector of English Schools; Colonel Bowen; Captain Mills; Mr. Ho Kwong; and Mr. A. F. B. Silve-Netto.

The Headmaster, Mr. R. E. O. Bird, M.A. (Oxon), read the annual report. It follows:

Attendance.—The total number of scholars enrolled during the year ending December 31, 1920, was 962—177 less than in the previous year. The average daily attendance throughout the year was 580 being 29 less than during 1919. These reductions are due to 3rd classes being formed in E. K. S., S. Y. P., and W. T. as there was not sufficient staff at Q. C. to take these classes in.

Staff.—The changes on the staff have not been as numerous as usual. Mr. de Rome returned from leave in March and Mr. Kay left for England during the same month. Mr. Edwards also went on leave in March and has lately returned. Mr. Tanner left for England on October 20. His departure was the signal for a remarkable display of cracker-firing and enthusiasm which was eloquent testimony of the appreciation of the boys of the great interest he has always taken in their welfare. I took up my duties here on October 29. The Vernacular studies have been carried on successfully and everything is now working smoothly under the efficient supervision of Mr. Sung Hok-pang, Senior Vernacular Teacher.

Discipline.—The discipline of the school has been very satisfactory.

The school Prefects have worked well and the tone of the school has every appearance of being thoroughly sound. The Prefect's Medal is awarded to Wei Tat. He was succeeded by Douglas Laing as Head Prefect. Laing always played the game and saw to it that those who were working with him did the same. He has just left us for the University and his place has been taken by Lu Tak-chung and I have no doubt that he will carry on the high traditions handed down to him. A Prefect's dinner was held in Bodree Villa and proved a great success. This is the 3rd Annual Prefect's Dinner.

Organisation.—The chief change has been the decision that the school year shall end in January or just before Chinese New Year instead of in July. This means that all boys will get an extra 4 months—September to December—to study for their examinations. We hope and expect to see correspondingly better results. This change is beneficial partly because it is easier to work in the winter and partly because Chinese New Year is the natural termination of the year for the Chinese. Owing to lack of staff, Queen's College was unable to accept all the boys who wished to enter from the top classes of the district schools. Accordingly 3 classes were formed in E. K. S., S. Y. P., and W. T. On the 1st of December the 3 classes of S. Y. P. and W. T. were transferred to Q. C. along with Mr. Hamilton from S. Y. P. The 3 class from E. K. S. will be transferred here next term.

Health of School.—Dr. Valentine has examined 455 boys. 70 boys or 15.4 per cent. required special diet, 128 boys or 28.1 per cent. required attention to teeth. Dr. Valentine reported that the teeth on the whole were very good. Although a big percentage required attention, it was in many cases quite trivial.

Studies.—In July 21 boys were entered for the Matriculation examination of the University. Of those 14 passed in the Matriculation examination and 1 in the Senior Locals. One boy gained the President's Scholarship with Honours.

One boy gained Honours.

Three boys gained Canton Government Scholarships.

76 were entered for the Junior 8 were absent and 50 passed of whom 15 gained distinctions. In the December examination 1 boy passed in the Matriculation and 6 in the Junior of whom 2 obtained distinctions.

given a special course in Chinese with the object of training as Vernacular Masters. Later in the year, however, it was considered better that all Pupil Teachers should be trained at the University in future; accordingly those who were able to matriculate entered the University as Teachers in Training in September last, while the remainder are preparing for the Matriculation Examination, and will proceed to the University in due course.

Athletics.—Football: There has been great activity this year as regards football. In the Inter-class Competition every class except Commercial I, entered a team, making 19 in all, that is there were more than 200 boys actually taking part in the games.

We entered a team for each of the 3 leagues but did not occupy first place in any of them. However the training in physique and esprit de corps were invaluable. Special mention must be made of Douglas Laing who was always willing to lend a helping hand. The Masters spent much time and energy in supervising the improvements on the ground and it is now in very good condition.

Volley Ball: We have an inter-class competition in Volley Ball which gives practice to a very wide number of players as the game requires 12 a side.

In tennis the Ralston Cup brings together present and past pupils in friendly competition. Swimming parties are taken out every week in the summer. There were also several day excursions. In our annual Aquatic Sports we were successful in retaining against strong opposition, the Coronation Shield, open to teams from all schools in the Colony.

In running we met with marked success. We won the team race at the Lusitano sports and at St. Joseph's College Sports. At the Hongkong Schools sports we won the Charter Cup for the Senior Team Race and also the Senior Championship.

We have taken up boxing and the well-known Mr. Kid Marriott says we have some very promising material. The noble art of self-defence is not as popular as it is promised to be at one time but the class has met with great regularity twice a week and has put in quite a lot of hard work.

A Chinese Boxing Class has lately been started and about 60 boys have joined it.

We entered for a Basketball League and were 3rd out of 5 teams—Last month we defeated a strong team from Canton.

Library.—The Library and reading room continues to be of great service, especially to the Upper Classes. Periodicals and illustrated papers are widely used. The new catalogue, the result of 2 years' hard work by the Librarian, Mr. Handyside, ably assisted by the Prefects.

Q.C.A.D.A. Theatrical performances were held in the College Hall on December 22, 23 and 24. The selected plays were the Merchant of Venice in Chinese, the Two Half-sisters and the Two Detectives. Large houses were present on each occasion and the sum of $1,958.30 and one gold ring were obtained thereby. The ring subsequently realised $30. The money was divided between the Northern Famine Relief fund and the Tung Pak War Distress fund. Mr. Kong was chiefly responsible for this conspicuous success. We have also to thank the old boys who generously gave their services, the Lai Hoo Bank and the numerous patrons who supported us.

Old Boys' Association.—The Old Boys' Association is now an established body and has already had 2 meetings. We have very many distinguished old boys who have always taken a deep interest in Q. C. and who have given us a very generous support on all occasions. Among the most prominent of these is Sir Robert Ho Tung whose portrait is soon to be unveiled by His Excellency. It is hoped that this Association will maintain and strengthen the good feelings that have always existed between Q.C. and its old boys. I trust that it will have a long and useful career in front of it and will meet with the support from the old boys that it certainly deserves.

The Yellow Dragon.—The Yellow Dragon attained its majority in June when a special anniversary number of 64 pages with a new cover, designed by Mr. Crook, was issued. It contained a history of Q.C. an article by Dr. Bateson Wright who was Headmaster when the Y.D. first saw the light of day and numerous illustrations. The circulation averages 800 copies a month. The magazine finds its way into the 5 continents. The new O.B.A. promises to help the circulation of the Magazine considerably. We hope to devote a page or more regularly to the doing of our Old Boys. During the past year it has been under the able editorship of Mr. Fletcher.

General.—The school has had a very prosperous year and has done very good work. I will not say there is no room for improvement. I think there. Greater attention, I may say, far greater attention should be paid to colloquial English. There are several reasons for this weakness. There is too much of a tendency to work along stereotyped lines. The Chinese study their own language entirely from written characters and they do not realise the importance of trying to speak English correctly. It is difficult to make them understand as Browning says: "It were better youth should strive through acts uncouth towards making—than repose on ought found made." The words "repose on ought found made" are, I fear, only too applicable to those students who think that the high road to knowledge is a weary iteration of their reading and other books instead of an intelligent interest in their surroundings and a desire to express in English the things they see around them, and to question their Teachers about causes and effects.

In conclusion I desire to thank Your Excellency for honouring us by consenting to distribute these prizes. I desire also to thank those who have so generously contributed to the Prize Fund, the visitors for their attendance and the Staff for their loyal support during the year.

The reading of the report was received with great applause. The Second Master, Mr. A. H. Crook, M.A. (Dublin), then called the list of prizewinners, and the Governor distributed the awards.

Afterwards the Governor, addressing the assembly, expressed his pleasure at being present to distribute the prizes. He referred to the fact that he had expected to be present at the distribution last year, but had been prevented from attending by illness. He congratulated the College on the completion of another year of excellent work, and congratulated it also on the esprit de corps and corporate unity of the institution. He was especially glad to notice the large number of boys taking part in sports; not merely looking on, but actually playing the games. As another good instance of the corporate feeling of which he had spoken, he cited the establishment of the Old Boys' organization. He congratulated "The Yellow Dragon" on reaching its majority.

He could not claim to be a reader of every issue, but he could claim to have read the first number, which had been sent to him years ago when it was issued.

As to learning colloquial English, he said, referring to the last part of Mr. Bird's report, that he did not think if one were seeking to learn colloquial English, he should go to Browning for it.

A pleasant duty that remained, he said, was to unveil the portrait of one of the most distinguished of the Old Boys of Queen's College, Sir Robert Ho Tung. He had been a student in the school from 1873 to 1878, and a Monitor, and had since done a great deal for it. In addition to all he had done for Queen's College, he had given $160,000 to the University of Hongkong, and he now had the pleasure of announcing that Sir Robert had decided to give a further $100,000 to the University, making his benefactions to the institution over a quarter of a million dollars. Sir Robert had come to see him, to consider what form his gift should take, and had decided that it should be used to provide workshops for the engineering course.

The announcement met with hearty applause. The Governor then declared that it was his pleasant duty to unveil the portrait of Sir Robert. From the platform, by a string, he released the drape that covered the portrait, which was on a stand in the front of the Hall.

When the applause had subsided Sir Robert, responding to the Governor, said he thanked the Governor very heartily for the kind remarks he had made concerning him. He deemed it a high honour that his portrait found a place in his old school among men so distinguished as the late Dr. Frederick Stewart, Dr. Bateson Wright and others.

Whose life reminds us That we, too, can make our lives sublime, And dying, leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time.

He added—Queen's College has long ago earned for itself the fame of a household name throughout the length and breadth of China. It has played a great part as a nursery for supplying this great Republic with men of character and learning in all the walks of life. From it has radiated scholars to many of the universities of the old and new worlds until to-day men graduated in the liberal professions are occupying high positions in the land who owe their early education to this institution of the British Government.

With reference to what I say as to my recent donation to the Hongkong University, I deem it an honour that it has been my privilege to have been able to assist an institution so closely identified with the Government of Hongkong. It is a source of little gratification to me that I have been able to do a little towards helping the education of the rising generation.

Mr. In Tak Cheuk, on behalf of all connected with Queen's College, thanked the Governor for his presence and called for cheers, which were given with a will. Mr. Bird then called for cheers for Queen's College, and when these had been given, the proceedings came to an end.

THE UNIVERSITY'S WINDFALL.

SIR ROBERT HO TUNG'S FURTHER DONATIONS.

The Governor announced to-day at the Queen's College prize distribution that Sir Robert Ho Tung has given a further donation of $100,000 to the Hongkong University, bringing up the total of his benefactions to $250,000. That is princely. The last gift is to be expended on the workshops of the Engineering Faculty, the department most in need of funds at the moment.

EARL HAIG'S INDICTMENT.

UNFULFILLED PLEDGES.

OUR DEBT TO WAR VICTIMS.

"I think it will be a blot upon the nation's honour if these fine fellows are condemned for the rest of their lives to remain amongst the unskilled," declared Field-Marshal Earl Haig in the course of an outspoken appeal on behalf of unemployed ex-Service men and the work of the Officers' Association, to the Council of the National Farmers' Union.

Earl Haig made it clear that he is not altogether satisfied with the result of the appeal he has been making for more than a year, and gave it as his opinion, so large was the problem, that the fact of training and absorbing ex-Service men into industry would last for quite a generation.

During the war, said Earl Haig, men were asked to enlist. Promises were made to them, and they were told that they would be looked after, and that if they fell their dependents would be cared for. At the same time money was raised by War Loan, and at stated intervals dividends were paid. What would be said if those loans were repudiated and dividends withheld? Personally he could see no difference in that and the treatment of the fellows who went out and fought. They used to think that the word of Britain was its bond, but apparently it was no longer so. Big companies who ought to give £200 or £300 gave only £20 or £30. Directors said that they were not justified in giving shareholders' money away. He did not think that they quite understood their duties or responsibilities, and that they existed only through the efforts of ex-Service men. "Work is the last thing certain classes of our fellow-countrymen will give to the ex-Service man," continued Earl Haig, "because they say they have not been through a period of apprenticeship. It is a great shame and disgrace. Are five years of war not to count? (Cheers.) I think it will be a blot upon the nation's honour if these fine fellows are condemned for the rest of their lives to remain amongst the unskilled. It is up to us to insist upon them being trained. If they are unemployable now it is the nation's fault. Steps should at once be taken by the Government, employers of labour, and trade unions all working together to make these heroes employable. We can only be successful if all co-operate and realise that it is their duty to help."

He did not think that the magnitude of the operations in which Britain was engaged during the war was altogether realised. Such mighty efforts inevitably brought tremendous losses in their train. Suffering existed in every class. There was the old Territorial officer who, in the possession of volunteer decorations, at the age of 57, joined as a private, was wounded, eventually received a commission, and now found himself stranded. There was the young lad straight from school, who joined in 1914, by merit worked himself to a commission, and now in the flower of his youth was a wreck. He had given his all to save our hearths and homes, and he did it voluntarily. He was asked for help to make life more tolerable. The Ministry of Pensions had told him that there were 40,000 drawing 100 per cent. disablement pensions. There were 173,000 drawing disablement pensions of between 50 and 95 per cent. There were 200,000 poor chaps without limbs or damaged in some way or another who were suffering and must be helped. In Government schemes of relief there must be gaps which could be filled only by voluntary effort. The Officers' Association had more than justified its existence. Since its foundation about seven months ago it had spent £251,824 in its four chief branches of work—employment, housing, disablement, and families. It was spending £9,000 a month more than it received.

"For more than a year," said Earl Haig, "I have been asking the nation to pay its debt of gratitude to those who fought and are now necessitous. The response up to date has not been altogether satisfactory. Some few have been very generous, and some great corporations, like Lloyd's, who gave us about £50,000 have supported us splendidly, but though I have been at it for nearly a year we have not done as well as we hoped to have done. The problem is a very large one, and our task will last for quite a generation. I ask for organised collection in every section of the business world, and I ask also for employment. It is not charity but just payment for services rendered, lives given, and for wounds received." (Cheers.)

THE COMPLETE ORGAN ST.

The Complete Organist. By Harvey Grace. (Grant Richards. 7s. 6d. net.)

The complete organist is not the man who plays the organ better than his fellows. "Our organist is a very clever musician, but—" is a phrase sometimes heard in clerical or parochial conversations. The "clever musician" is an acknowledgment of the organist's technical powers at the instrument; the "but" is the prelude to a catalogue of qualifications which the speaker considers more important. He does not manage the boys, or get on with the men; he is out of sympathy with our type of service, has no experience of plain song, and so forth. The complete organist has experience of every kind of music which can possibly be associated with choirs and organs, and he has sympathy for all in turn: he has the knack of discovering the angel beneath the ragamuffin of the elementary school, can coax a volunteer choirman, and hold his own with any choirman, and above all, he is a musical creature—in fact, he is a complete man first and a musician afterwards.

All this Mr. Harvey Grace understands; and he begins his book with a "Pean" in praise of the numerous parish church organists who approach this ideal. His book is written to help them; and it will help them because, as one of them says, he knows every difficulty, is conscious of defects, and above all, believes wholeheartedly in the value of things which these men do. Starting from this point of view, he can afford to be scathing where he can afford to be sympathetic. Many organists will blush at page 133, which depicts the manner of the "in-voluntary" as it is improvised in a thousand parish churches, a species of mortal sin, by the way, of which the clerical conversationists are rarely heard to complain. The fact is that the organist's worst faults are those of which his vicar and church wardens are unconscious, and it is against these that Mr. Harvey Grace directs his most energetic protests.

The book goes through each section of the organist's and choir-master's duties: the training of boys and men, the playing of accompaniments, of voluntaries, of recital, programmes, not forgetting the all important question of congregational singing, and speaks plain common sense touched with humour on them all. It never supposes the comparatively ideal conditions of the Cathedral or the choir school, as so many books on Church music do. Nor is it so much a book for beginners as for men who have spent some years in the service of their parish churches, and who are beginning to tire under the sense that "that which hath been done is that which shall be done." It invites them to look afresh at every convention of their business, and either to justify it or to scrap it.

At times Mr. Grace justifies his paraphrase of Walton's title by dropping into the dialogue style. Perhaps it will be well to warn his readers against taking this too literally. We are not quite sure that the dialogue begun on page 31, between a vicar and his organist would work, or that with the majority of those vicars who are devoted to had tunes the organist would ever arrive at his most telling strokes against them. At any rate, it would be amusing to hear the conversation begun by an organist who had learnt his part by heart. The dialogue between Musician and Organist which ends the volume runs no such risk, however. It is a capital piece of writing, and Mr. Harvey Grace is in the right in giving the last word to Organist.

The C.P.O.S. R.M.S. "Express of Russia," is expected to arrive at 8 a.m. on Sunday, Feb. 6 from Vancouver and Victoria. E.C. via Japan Ports, Shanghai and Manila.

BUNGALOW CASE.

ALLEGED DAMAGE TO PROPERTY.
SUMMARY COURT HEARING.

Hearing of the suit of the Rev. Father A. Henriques, who is suing Mr. George Theodore Lam for $205, for damages alleged to have been done to adjacent property by the building of a bungalow, began this morning in the Summary Court before the Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice Wood.

Mr. Lewis, of Johnson, Stokes and Master, appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Lo, of Lo and Lo, for the defendant.

The plaintiff is a clerk in Holy Orders, and resides in Shin Hing, in the Province of Kwangtung. He is the owner of Kowloon Island Lot No. 1318. In Court this morning Mr. Lewis said that the plaintiff holds an office in the Roman Catholic Church, and though the property is vested in him, it really belongs to an institution. The defendant, Mr. Lam, is the owner of the adjacent lot.

The particulars of the claim already have appeared in the China Mail, and the hearing this morning was occupied chiefly by the presentation of the plaintiff's case. He alleges that he built two bungalows on the property, completing them about March, 1919. In 1920 the defendant began building operations on the adjoining lot. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant did not take proper precautions to support his compound and boundary walls, and as a result they subsided and were damaged. The surface of the compound requires re-surfacing for about 50 square yards, and the boundary wall and cracks and tilted.

The defendant denies that his operations caused the damage to the plaintiff's property, and says it was caused partly by the nature of the plaintiff's soil which consists of fillings.

The weight of the buildings on defendant's land caused compression of the soil of the adjoining lot. Further, he says that the boundary wall was built on the extreme edge of the cement foundation, instead of in the centre, and that the rain percolating through the soil caused the wall to settle on one side only.

The hearing continued this afternoon.
